 Genealogical Memoir of the Connable family book

Two family history books published in the 1900s provide a detailed sketch of Leydia Connable's family back to original settler John Connable 1650 - 1724. John Connable was born in England, a carpenter, that is all that is known or proven. There is no solid information on John's ancestors in England. The two family history digital books are at HathiTrust, free to read: Andrew Newcomb, 1618-1686, and his descendants and Genealogical memoir of the Cunnabell, Conable or Connable family.

John Connable b. 1650 to son John Connable b. 1749 is proven in a few sources. The abridged compendium of American genealogy by Virkus Volume 2 page 134. From this source: John Connable married Sarah Cloyes. Their son Samuel married Mary Wilson. Their son Samuel married Mary English. Their son John married Sarah Dewey. Marriages are proven with Torrey's New England Marriages before 1700 and various Massachusetts vital records on American Ancestors, Ancestry and FamilySearch.

John Connable b. 1749 and his marriage to Sarah Dewey is proven in The abridged compendium of American genealogy Volume 2 page 103. Their daughter Leydia and sibling births are proven in Massachusetts, Town and Vital Records, 1620-1988: Bernardston Births, Marriages and Deaths, snapshot. John's will names his children Massachusetts, Wills and Probate Records, 1635-1991: Franklin County Probate Files, Ca. 1812-1915.

Lydia Connable's marriage to Obed Gaines is proved in Massachusetts, Town and Vital Records, 1620-1988: Bernardston Births, Marriages and Deaths. This source shows two different facts for marriage. The first is dated 10 Aug 1815 the second 23 Sep 1815, the first probably an intention, the second their marriage.

William Newcomb Gaines's parents are proven in the two thorough family history books: Andrew Newcomb, 1618-1686, and his descendants and Genealogical memoir of the Cunnabell, Conable or Connable family. William Gaines and Sarah Swain named a son and daughter Obed and Lydia. William Gaines and Sarah Swain's marriage is proven through Iowa county marriages 1838-1934. Their child Mary Ella is proven through Iowa deaths and burials 1850-1990, both of these at FamilySearch.org.

Mary Ella Gaines's marriage to James Davis Miller is proven through Iowa county marriages 1838-1934. Their son William Earl Miller's birth is proven through Iowa, County Births, 1880-1935
